

Dear Vendor,

Saving Animals During Disasters is so excited to announce the sixth annual SALTY PAWS FESTIVAL to take place around the beautiful Carolina Beach Lake on October 18th. ALL proceeds go to help in the care and medical needs of so many neglected and abused animals

The SALTY PAWS FESTIVAL is hosted by Saving Animals During Disasters, a 501c3 non-profit organization whose goal is to aid in the rescue and support of animals affected by disasters, whether natural or manmade.

Saturday October 18, 2014

11:00 AM - 4:30 PM

The first five Salty Paws Festivals, which were held every October since 2009 around the lake, were HUGE successes, drawing thousands of attendees, a growing number and variety of vendors and sponsors and more pets than we could count! We're expecting an even larger turnout this year. The festival will have music, food, a wine and beer garden, pet contests, pet adoptions, and lots of activities for adults, children and pets.

The proceeds from these festivals have had a huge impact on the needs of animals in our area, but, the needs keep growing too. We want to thank all of our previous vendors for their participation and look forward to those who will join us this year for the first time. This event wouldn't be possible without all of you!

Many vendors have already expressed interest in participating. All applications will be treated on a first come first served basis, so I encourage you to respond as soon as you can if you want a space. There are plenty of electrical outlets around the lake, but spaces with water are very limited.

We hope you and your family will join us for a fun-filled fall day around the beautiful Carolina Beach lake. (This lake is the closest freshwater lake to the ocean on the east coast, and the ocean is across the street!) Don't forget to bring your pets too. See you there!!

Sincerely,

Jeannie Mintz, President of Saving Animals During Disasters
